

HIGH-PERFORMANCE BUILDINGS CONGRESSIONAL CAUCUS COALITION

--www.HPBCCC.org--

Lead Sponsor:

Sustainable Buildings Industry Council

Co-Sponsors:

High-Performance Buildings: Award Winning Case Studies

High-performance buildings are healthy and productive places to live and work, cost-effective to operate and maintain, and good for the environment. They are also attainable today. At this educational briefing, winners of the Sustainable Buildings Industry Council's 2009 Beyond Green™ High-Performance Building Awards will present their projects and describe the challenges and opportunities for delivering better, more energy-efficient buildings. The case studies, which represent a wide variety of building types from across the country, address the successful integration of sustainability and energy-efficiency with cost-effectiveness, safety and security, accessibility, historic preservation, and aesthetics.

Thursday, February 25, 2010 12:30 p.m. – 2:00 p.m.

U.S. House of Representatives

B-340 Rayburn House Office Building

Welcoming Remarks

Representative Judy Biggert (R-IL), and Representative Russ Carnahan (D-MO),
Co-Chairs of the High-Performance Buildings Caucus

Empire State Building Integrated Energy Efficiency, New York, NY

Rocky Mountain Institute, Jones Lang LaSalle, Clinton Climate Initiative, Johnson Controls

Kroon Hall, School of Forestry & Environmental Studies

Yale University, New Haven, CT

James A. Coan, AIA, LEED AP

Centerbrook Architects and Planners

Emerson's Energy-Efficient Global Data Center, St. Louis, MO

Steve Hassel

Emerson Electric Company

Charlotte Vermont House, Charlotte, VT

David Pill

Pill – Maharam Architects

Water Independence in Oregon's Buildings, Portland, OR

SERA Architects & Interface Engineering

Presentation of Awards

Posters featuring all of the 2009 Award Winners will be on display during the event.

Register Now! There is no charge, but space is limited.

Please RSVP by February 22, 2010 to Fayette Fox by fax at 202-393-5043 or sbic@sbicouncil.org. Lunch will be served.

NAME:

TITLE:

ORGANIZATION:

TELEPHONE:

EMAIL:

Special thanks to Congressman Carnahan's Office for providing the meeting room.

Any questions, please contact Anna Bran at SBIC, 202-628-7400, extension 211.